TWO TUGS HERE FOR THE CRUISER GALVESTON

The Molawk and Hercules, ocean going tugs are tied up at the city wharf, having come here for the purpose of towing the Galveston and Benyaard, United States steamships, to Norfolk to be completed. It was stated at the wharf last night that it was not likely that the nation's ironclads would go to-day though, of course, it was possible. It may be twenty-four hours beforg the Galveston and the Benyuard will be fully ready for their first trip down the Jaines. It is more than likely also to be the last trip the Galveston will make all the way down the historic stream.

A man on one of the ocean tugs was taken sick suddenly soon after reaching here and nearly fell overboard before anyone could reach him. He was treated by the surgeon on the tug.

Powers towards the severity of Turkey's repressive measures.

People here consider that the anxiety of the Powers seem to be manifested chiefly in repeated admonitions to the Porte to suppress revolution with all speed and energy possible. Telegrams from Constantinople appear in this avening's papers asserting that the ambassadors had urged the Sultan's government to suppress the insurrection without any considerations of mercy and not to hesitate to burn and destroy the villages or take any other steps which might be deemed necessary.
